

EYAM TEAM ARE A DREAM

We are lucky enough to have a large playing field at Eyam CE Primary – so here we are digging it up!

You can see us exploring our local history with an archaeological dig in the school field! This was brought alive by the range of finds at each level of the pit - we excavated bones, pipes and shoe heels! Our Stone Age topic has been a hit with both staff and pupils as we considered how the countryside could have looked 5000 years BC. In our recent Ofsted we were praised for this type of cross curricular learning as well as the many opportunities for pupil leadership, especially in lunch time sporting activities run by the pupils. They commented that 'kindness and care were shown across different year groups' and they liked our links with Jam Tan Primary school in Burkina Faso. It was noted that the 'Governors have a comprehensive understanding of provision' and teachers plan with care, providing challenge at different levels and pupils are enthusiastic and engaged.
